GRANDER, GREATER, MORE AND BETTER ATTRACTIONS THAN EVER BEFORE. DON'T MISS IT.

WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON?

Chicago Employees Say Their Teamsters Must Not Wear Union Badge.

NO MORE STREET BLOCKADES—STRIKE OFF AND MEN ASKING REINSTATEMENT.

Chicago, July 21.—The union button and the street blockade against non-union drivers, popularly looked upon as cardinal principles of the teamsters' union, will no more be tolerated by any firm that has been affected by the strike just ended, if resolutions adopted by the employers at a meeting today are carried out. Representatives of every branch of industry affected by the strike pledged themselves to stand for the "open shop" and to enforce the rules put into effect by the Employers' Association members several weeks ago.

Teamster strikers, who last night gave up their long struggle against the employers, broke ranks today in a stampede for work. The barns of the strike-affected firms were besieged by men who have been idle for months, and whose places have been filled by non-union men.

The employers in many cases announced that there were vacancies for only a few. Of more than 4,000 men who quit work not more than 1,400 or 1,500 will be reinstated during the next few days.

Nearly every one of the strikers at the department stores filed applications for reinstatement. In many cases the men were put to work immediately. At one store a number of men who obeyed the order to strike stood in line today and signed applications forfeiting their right to wear buttons of their union exposed.

The express companies, who fought their battle virtually alone and apart from the others, are not to take back any of their former employees.

Police protection will not be withdrawn for a few days at least, as clashes between non-union men and unionists are feared when the latter return to work.

ENORMOUS COST OF MINE WORKERS UNION STRIKE.

Million and a Half Dollars Spent in Vain Efforts in Alabama and Tennessee.

New York, July 20.—Testimony has been given at a hearing before Commissioner of Licenses Keating, in this city, to the effect that the United Mine Workers of America had spent more than $1,500,000 in an effort to win a strike which began in the bituminous coal mines of Alabama and Tennessee a year ago. The statements were made by General Labor Agent Hugh Dewitt, of the Tennessee Coal Iron and Railroad Company.

Dewitt asserted that the union contributed an average of $1,000 for the maintenance of the forces of local unions in those states, and that, in addition $365,000 spent by the organization, the union had expended $20,000 within the last months for railroad tickets for strike breakers to return to their homes.

STATE OF KENTUCKY MAY BUY RAILROAD BRIDGE.

Old Illinois Central Bridge Over Cumberland River at Gilbertsville.

The project of the State of Kentucky buying the old Tennessee river bridge of the Illinois Central, near Gilbertsville, Ky., for a foot and wagon bridge, is being discussed by a number of persons interested, but nothing has been done thus far, except the exchange of a few letters with State officials bearing on the subject, says the Paducah News Democrat.

It has been suggested by many who are thoroughly conversant with the subject, that this bridge could be bought by the State for perhaps $15,000 or $20,000—a tenth of what it would cost to build any kind of a new bridge—the tracks could be removed and the structure floored and thus converted into as strong a foot and wagon bridge as any in the State.

It is probable, however, that the next Legislature in January may be asked to appropriate money enough to buy the bridge for the State.

JOHN PEYTON HURT.

Chain Tackle Roke and Fell on Him While Working at St. Charles.

John D. Peyton, of the St. Bernard construction force, now engaged on erection of tipples, etc., at the new St. Charles opening was knocked out temporarily Saturday while operating a chain tackle at that place. The tackle broke while he was in the act of hoisting a load and the tackle and chain fell, striking him on the shoulders and head and knocking him into an unconscious state. He received a cut on the head and was otherwise bruised but was revived at once and his wound was dressed by W. A. Toombs, foreman of the crew. Mr. Peyton remained at the works until afternoon, when the entire crew came to Earlinton, he coming with the rest. The accident happened about 10:30 in the morning. He received medical attention at the St. Bernard hospital upon arrival here. His injury will keep him off duty some days.

An Evening Dance at the Park.

The young men of the town gave a dance at Lakeside Park last night to the ladies of the town and their charming visitors among which are Mrs. Guthrie, Misses Eastwood, Childer, Haden and Warner. A delightful evening was spent at this lovely resort.

Not Drowned.

Albert Henderson was drowned as was reported in the press dispatches. His father writes a letter to The Bee making a correction. Following is the contents of the letter:

Albert Henderson, a soldier, at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., that was reported drowned on the 3rd is not true. He and one other of the boys escaped by holding to the boat, while the other three attempted to swim to the shore and were drowned. His father, Albert Henderson, Sr., received a letter from him on the 10th telling of the narrow escape. Two fishermen saw them in distress and took them to the shore. ALBERT HENDERSON.

MINERS OVERCOME

Twenty Succumbed to Gas at 'Deanfield, Rescued by Fellow Workmen.

SECOND MISFORTUNE IN ONE WEEK.

Owensboro, Ky., July 20.—Twenty miners were overcome by gas in a mine of the Deanfield Coal Company, near Deanfield, this morning. The gas accumulated imperceptibly and most of the miners in that part of the mine where the accumulation was heaviest, were unable to walk when the condition of the mine was discovered by those at work in other parts. They were carried from the shaft by those who had escaped the effects of the gas. Several of the men are in a critical condition. Cal Simms was the most seriously injured and there is little hope of his recovery.

This is the second misfortune to happen to the Deanfield Coal Co., in five days. On the Sunday morning previous to the gas accident the store of the company was burned with a loss of $9,000, insurance $6,500.

MISS JOHN COOK

Lived as a Man a Number of Years—Shot at Hecla Saturday by Frank Cook

UNDER PECULIAR CIRCUMSTANCES.

Miss Johnnie Cook, of Hecla, aged 30, who has been masquerading as a man until a few years ago, was shot by Frank Cook Saturday between 1 and 2 o'clock. The wound was at first thought to be fatal and a physician was hastily summoned. Thinking she had only a short time to live she asked that a warrant of arrest be issued for Frank Cook who had been living with her and who was to have married her on Tuesday, July 25th. The affidavit is as follows:

This evening between 1 and 2 o'clock Frank Cook's brother, Charlie, came here to my house to see Frank. They had a talk and after Charlie left Frank seemed so thick I was mad at him and I told him I was not. After a little we began talking over some other matters and he seemed to get mad and we had a struggle. He made an attempt to get his pistol out of his pocket and I grabbed hold of his hand and held it in his pocket. He dragged me into the kitchen and while we were still struggling I saw a jug and was reaching for it to defend myself. When he saw me bend over for the jug he shot, the ball going in just below the heart. As soon as he fired I screamed, "Frank, you have killed me." I then tried to get back in the other room, but fell in the doorway. He came back and picked me up and carried me to a cot. I had my pocketbook in my bosom and he asked me for it. I said, "Yes, you can have it." He then went to his trunk, took out his best suit of clothes, leaned over and kissed me and said, "Good bye, sweetheart."

His brother Charlie lives in Springfield, Tenn., and had just come over to see Frank. I have known Frank Cook about a year this coming October. He has been living here with me. We are not married, neither are we related. He shot me without any provocation.

After the shooting Frank Cook left for parts unknown and has not yet been arrested.

Died of Malaria.
Mrs. Tom Devault died Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock of malarial fever and complications at her home in this city. She was 67 years of age and was a good Christian woman. She leaves a husband and four children by a former marriage, Ex-Sheriff John Hankins, of Madisonville; Rev. Lee Hankins, of Daniel Boone, and Jim Hankins and Mrs. Henry Clements, of this place, and an adopted daughter, Miss Bessie Devault. She was a daughter of Mr. Jack Goodloe, deceased, one of the early settlers of this county. Interment took place at Grapevine cemetery Monday afternoon.

Browder's Chapel Dedicated.
Browder's Chapel, a Southern Methodist church a few miles from this place, was dedicated Sunday. A large crowd was in attendance. Rev. J. B. Adams, of Madisonville, delivered the dedication sermon, which was a very effective one. There was a bounteous dinner spread on the ground for all that were present. This is one of the largest churches and congregations in Hopkins county and is located in a splendid neighborhood. The pastor of this church is W. C. Lucy, of Hanson.

Governor Folk is now making it lively for the race track gamblers in St. Louis County.

JNO. B. ATKINSON COMPLIMENTED.

One of Madisonville's Leading Citizens Thinks He Would Make Good Governor.

The Progress published at Madisonville, has the following to say about Earlinton and the man who made Earlinton what it is:

We heard one of our good citizens say the other day that if he was started out to find a Governor for the State of Kentucky he would select John B. Atkinson of Earlinton. He further stated that Earlinton had between 3,000 and 4,000 population and the best governed town in the whole State of Kentucky today. This man is a citizen of Madisonville and is not interested in any railroad or coal company, but just merely wishes for the good of the people.

TOBACCO ACREAGE

Final Report of Department of Agriculture Corrects Three Errors.

SHOWS DECREASED ACREAGE IN DARK TOBACCO DISTRICT.

Washington, July 21.—A final report on tobacco acreage and condition was issued by the Department of Agriculture today, the report having been made up as the result of the discovery and correction of three errors in the computations for the report of June, 1905. The preliminary report on tobacco acreage was based solely on information received from a corps of special tobacco correspondents located in the tobacco growing States, and, as made up and published, showed a large increase in the acreage over that of the preceding year in the burley district of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia and in the "regie," or dark district, of Kentucky and Tennessee.

The showing made by the report was criticised by persons cognizant of the actual conditions in these districts and as a result of complaints made to the Department, Secretary Wilson practically determined to have made a special investigation. The start of this investigation was delayed by illness in the family of the tobacco expert, and the final report, therefore, was suspended. In the meantime the discovery of the errors made the special investigation unnecessary. The Department then prepared the final report issued today. The corrected figures for those districts show a much smaller acreage than that indicated in the preliminary report and are substantiated by the figures of the final report which is based on the returns from the regular and country and township correspondents of the Bureau of Statistics. The figures of this final report are in strict conformity to the information given by the Bureau's correspondents.

These drills will be held on the street every Monday evening during the summer months if the weather is favorable.

YELLOW FEVER SITUATION

No Material Change is Reported at New Orleans.

The Authorities May Perfecting Plans to Restrict Infection and Carry Out Sanitation.

New Orleans, July 26.—There has been no material change in the fever situation. Two more deaths were reported. There is no absolute record of the number of cases under treatment at the present time, but it is believed to be about twenty. Physicians are reporting promptly all cases of fever, and immediate steps are taken to prevent mosquito infection, so that the prospects of restricting the infection are considered bright. The emergency hospital on Duncan street has been equipped and placed in charge of Dr. Hamilton P. Jones, who had charge of the isolation hospital in 1897. He has as his assistant Dr. L. J. Faget, a noted board of the city board of health has begun active work, having immediate charge of the work of ferreting out the new foot of infection and carrying out the sanitation and isolation should any develop. It will also have general supervision over the campaign of education and the cleaning up of the city, screening of districts, etc.

Surgeon White and Surgeon Guiteras of the Marine hospital service have completed all plans for the establishment of the detention camp along the different railroad trunk lines, and have selected the physicians in charge who have already selected their staffs. Figures as issued by the state board show between July 12 and July 21 there were about 100 cases, suspicious and positive, and 20 deaths. Since then there have been 54 cases and 12 deaths up to the 26th, making all told 154 cases and 32 deaths. Tuesday there were two deaths, making 34 to date. There are about 50 cases under treatment.

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Earlington; B. T. Robinson, Mortons Gap; J. S. Taylor, Earlington.

THE REMAINS OF PAUL JONES

The Landing Made Mide the Boom—The Landing of the Remains of Paul Jones.

Annapolis, Md., July 24.—In a simple brick vault in the grounds of the naval academy lies the body of Paul Jones. The simple ceremony attending the landing of the body from the cruiser Brooklyn, the naval expedition authorized to accomplish its transfer from the Paris cemetery which has been its place of repose for more than a century, is completed.

The formal national reception of the body with appropriate exercises is reserved until it shall be placed in the splendid naval chapel now being erected near the site of the temporary vault.

The body was removed from the Brooklyn during a heavy thunder storm, heaven's artillery mingling with that of the fleet, the shore batteries and the French church.

With the coffin covered with the union jack and the flag of Gen. Porter, on which rested the unsheathed sword of Paul Jones, the remains were taken ashore on a tug, steaming between lines of battleships.

Death of Dan Lamont.

New York, July 24.—Col. Daniel S. Lamont, secretary of war during Cleveland's administration, and of late years prominently connected with railroad and financial interests here, died suddenly at his country home at Millbrook, Dutchess county, N. Y.

For Grafting.

LONG JOHN HAD AN EASY JOB

Was Supposed to Be Serving Term in Penitentiary at Hard Labor.

Had a Convict Brawler From St. Louis For a Companion—Ad dressed as "Gentlemen."

St. Louis, July 22.—The Star-Chronicle publishes a special from Jefferson City that "Long John" Dolan, former chairman of the democratic city central committee, serving a term at hard labor as a federal prisoner, for naturalization frauds, in the Missouri penitentiary at Jefferson City, is enjoying all the privileges of a private citizen.

A house has been fitted up for him outside the prison walls, where he sleeps, eats and passes his time reading the newspapers and magazines. He wears silk shirt, straw hat, and has the use of a telephone. Here his relatives and friends visit him.

Dolan has not seen the inside of the penitentiary for three months. He has for a companion Charles J. Denny, who was sent up from St. Louis for bootlegging, while a member of the city house of delegates.

The warden addresses them as "gentlemen."

Denny returns to the prison at night. Dolan sleeps there unguarded.

"Neither Denny nor Dolan has eaten a meal inside of the penitentiary for three months," said an attendant.

"For God's sake don't say anything about us," pleaded Dolan, when asked about privileges he is enjoying.

"I have a family and so has Denny, and we have troubles enough, without having anything said about us in the newspapers."

Back to the Pen.
A Jefferson City special to the Post-Dispatch says that Dolan has been returned to the penitentiary. Dolan will sleep in his cell for the first time in three months.

PENCIL PUSHERS

In Session at Crab Orchard Springs—
Good Time For All.

BIG CROWD ON HAND.

Crab Orchard Springs, Ky., July 26.—Editors and their families from all parts of the State were on hand here today when the meeting of the Kentucky Press Association was called to order. A large number of delegates have already arrived, and each train brings in its quota of visitors. The indications are that the present session of the Association will be one of the most largely attended in the history of the organization. The program is a very interesting one.

There are a large number of excellent orators among the Kentucky editors, and they will do their part toward entertaining their fellow scribes.

Every preparation has been made at the Springs to give the visitors the best there is in stock, and if the molders of opinion in the Bluegrass State do not have a good time nobody will be to blame.

A number of the editors have brought their wives and daughters with them, and the entire meeting will be one of the most enjoyable that the association has ever held.

The thirty-sixth annual session was called to order in the hall at the Crab Orchard Springs Hotel at 9:45 this morning, by Louis W. Landrum, of Lancaster, president. After a prayer by T. D. Osborne, of Louisville, an address of welcome in behalf of the hotel management was delivered by R. W. Miller, of Richmond, and the response was made by Clarence E. Woods, of Richmond. The president's annual address was then delivered by President Landrum.

Robert Morningstar, the secretary, being absent with the records and minutes, Vernon Richardson, of Danville, was elected temporary secretary.

The subject of "The Successful Country Newspaper" was then taken up and discussed at length by J. R. Lemon, Mayfield Messenger; Jas. Allen, Cynthia Democrat; Paul Moore, Earlington Bee; Jas. Needham, Williamson Courier; Harry Sommers, Elizabethtown News; Chas. Meacham, Hopkinsville Kentuckian, and others.

Among other features of the program is a discussion of "Advertising From Three Standpoints," which will be introduced by Henry M. Caldwell, of Louisville. "Politics as a Side Line" was the subject introduced by E. Barry, Benton Democrat.

The election of officers will not take place till tomorrow or Thursday.

An interesting social program has been arranged for each afternoon during the meeting.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmora, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50 cent bottle worked wonders, and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Sold by Jno. C. Taylor.

MINING NOTES.

GIANT STRIKE PLANNED.

All of the Mines in State of Pennsylvania Will be Involved.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 23.—According to plans which are now being matured, a general strike of all the coal miners in Pennsylvania, both the anthracite and bituminous fields, will be called before the winter sets in. This action has been decided upon during the past week by officials of the United Mine Workers of America.

President Patrick Dolan of the Pittsburg district, admitted today that a great strike is being planned. A strike of this character, according to President Dolan, will bring out every union miner in the state, together with miners in other states, who may declare sympathetic strikes and will perceptibly cut off the coal supply of the country.

The strike is really a revival of the old conflict of several years ago, when the miners were compelled by the Reading railroad to accede to the demands of the operators.

All of the Eastern railroads are erecting great bins which will be filled with coal in anticipation of the strike. While the local officials of the mine workers are loath to discuss the proposed strike, they do not hesitate to admit that they have decided to join in the fight with the anthracite miners.

Messrs. J. B. Favors and Bas Todd, of this place, were in Madisonville on business Monday.

J. P. Hornaday and Co., of Cincinnati, O., are negotiating with Cincinnati and Eastern parties with a view to establishing a large coal mine of not less than 1,000 tons daily output capacity in the Eastern Kentucky field.

J. W. Lester, of the carpenter crew, who is working at St. Charles, was off on business several days this week.

Barbourville, Ky., July 19.—The Bennett Jellico Coal Company, of Jellico, Tenn., is grading for a track to its holdings on Brush creek, on the route of the Cumberland Railroad Company's line into that field. The line of the Bennett Company will pass through the Powers farm, the former homestead of Caleb Powers. The vein of coal that the company will work is about seven feet thick.

The retail coal dealers of Kentucky and Tennessee met in Louisville last Monday and Tuesday for the purpose of forming the "Kentucky and Tennessee Retail Coal Dealers' Association," an organization having in view the betterment of retail coal business in every legitimate way. Similar organizations have been in existence in other states for several years and have proved to be helpful to the trade.

Carl Woolfolk, of the St. Bernard mechanical force, was in Madisonville Sunday visiting friends and relatives.

Frank Gough was in Madisonville Wednesday on business.

Foreman Jno. Carrol, of Victoria mines, was in the city Saturday night.

Secretary Geo. C. Atkinson returned from a trip South Tuesday night.

Mr. Rice Bowles and family returned Friday from Crofton, where they went to attend the funeral of his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Em. Goodloe attended the funeral of Mrs. Devault at Grapevine Monday.

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the supreme court, in a recent opinion on a stock gambling case, said that dealing in futures was the "self-adjustment of society to the probable."

POLITICAL POINTS.

John W. Yerkes at Home.

Lexington, July 20.—Hon. John W. Yerkes, United States Commissioner of the Internal Revenue, passed through here today for Danville, where he will spend his summer vacation with members of his family. Mr. Yerkes expects to be in Kentucky several weeks and will be in this city much of that time conferring with the local Republican leaders regarding the political situation in this State.

A dispatch from Paducah to the Courier-Journal says that Appellate Judge Thos. J. Nunn may become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1907. He is now visiting the various towns and cities in the First district and his visits may lead to his announcement.

Admiral Schley's Gallantry.

Admiral Schley, in his treatment of the opposite sex, is a model of gallantry, as befits a man with such a professional record. He is simply the perfection of old fashioned politeness. On a recent evening he was sitting with some friends in the lobby of his hotel when someone called him to the telephone. He stepped up to the instrument and, after the usual hellos, tossed his cigar away, took off his hat and cried: "Oh, how do you do, Mrs. Blank?" Then followed a crossfire of questions, good byes were exchanged and the admiral returned to his seat. His friends remarked on the circumstances attending his conversation over the wire, and Admiral Schley said he felt it incumbent upon him to take off his hat even when talking by telephone to a lady.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Tom" Reed's Collar.

Among the prominent men of New England there were none, perhaps, who wore a larger collar than "Tom" Reed. One hot day in the summer of 1891 Reed was in Portsmouth and, having to wait over for a train, he decided to make an impromptu toilet, changing his collar, etc. So he bled himself to the nearest haberdasher's and began a general survey of the collars displayed in the store. "Waited on, sir?" queried one of the clerks.

"Not yet," responded Reed, and then added, "I would like a collar."

"What size?" piped the clerk. "Size 20," answered Reed.

"We don't keep collars so large, but I think you may be accommodated at the store just around the corner."

Reed found the store around the corner to be a harness shop.—Boston Herald.

Favors Union Station.

Asked if the rebuilding of the station at Tenth street would mean that the Louisville & Nashville would not enter a union station, President Smith said:

"Not at all. Go ahead with the union project. The Louisville & Nashville cannot wait. But when there is a real union station on the river bank the Louisville & Nashville will be certain to use it for its passenger station."

"A union station is most desirable. St. Louis demonstrates that fact beyond dispute."

"The rebuilding of our Broadway station will not militate against a union station at all."

You are just like most other men - you pay from $3.50 to $5.00 for your shoes because that price ought to buy foot comfort. If you haven't been getting comfort it isn't the fault of the price - it's the shoes. Several years ago I realized that most shoes were uncomfortable because they were not made right. I began looking for a shoe that was made right. I found it. It is called "ATLANTIC" - distinguish the shoes from others.

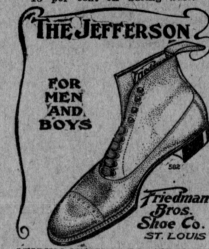

WORN FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN

Atlantic shoes are shaped like a foot. All the seams are deeply buried in the leather. The thick, soft lining prevents any surface. The insole, which is next to the foot, is soft and smooth. The stitches holding the bottom of the shoe together cannot become uneven ridges because between them and the soft insole is a hard leather sole. The heels must always fit, because the counter is curved at both top and bottom. The eyelets are covered on the inside with a soft leather strip - no matter how tight the shoes are laced, they cannot pinch the feet. ATLANTIC Shoes are good looking. They cost $3.50 because they couldn't be made better at a higher price.

INDICATE AN EARTHQUAKE

Seismographs Near Vienna and Florence indicate a Great Upheaval in Central Asia.

Vienna, July 24.—Seismographs of hydrographic institutes in Labach and Pola show extraordinary movements in waves, signifying a catastrophe of earthquakes at 6000 kilometers distance. At 7 o'clock the instruments were still vibrating, indicating what should be one of the most terrible earthquakes that ever happened.

[Six thousand kilometers to the eastward would be about 3,725 miles, as a kilometer is .621 of a mile. If a correct calculation, the earthquake occurred in the great mountain ranges of central Asia, in the district known as the Backbone of the World.]

U. S. GUNBOAT BLOWS UP

Sixty Dead and Many More In the Hospitals Whose Injuries Will Prove Fatal.

Boiler on the Gunboat Bennington Explodes in the Harbor at San Diego, Cal.

ALMOST EVERY MAN ON BOARD EITHER KILLED OR WOUNDED

All the Wounded Believed to Have Been Saved, Many Being Rescued From the Water and Taken to the Hospital—Capt. Young, the Commanding Officer, Was Ashore at Time of Accident—The Vessel Almost a Wreck.

A roll call ordered by Commander Young on board the Bennington some hours after the explosion showed 61 men present, leaving 136 unaccounted for. These included dead, injured and missing.

Commander Young believes some of the missing men were drowned, and that the bodies will be found in the bay.

Boilers in the United States gunboat Bennington blew up at San Diego, Cal., during the forenoon of Friday, July 21. Many were killed outright, and almost the entire crew were killed or wounded. On the July 22 the list of the dead numbered 60. On that day 47 were buried in one grave. On the coast of the promontory Loma, high above the shimmering waters of San Diego bay and within sound of the booming surf of the Pacific, they were laid to rest in the little military burying ground—without crash and sound of drum and brass, without pomp and parade, but with simple ceremonies, all honor was paid to the NATION'S dead. About them lie those who gave up their lives in the conquest of California, and who followed Commodore Stockton at Old San Pascual. These are their neighbors in death.

On the 23d the following estimate was made:

Buried in military cemetery at Port Rosencrans, 47; dead now in morgue, 10; awaiting shipment to relatives; dead in freemason of Bennington still unburied, 2; total dead, 69.

Injured at various hospitals, 49.

Missing, 16.

Grand total, 125.

Of the injured at hospitals, seven or eight are expected to die. Forty-nine bodies were taken to the cemetery, but were brought back upon telegraphic orders for shipment.

Ensign Perry's body has been embalmed and will be shipped to the naval cemetery at Annapolis.

Was Preparing to Leave.

The Bennington at the time of the accident was lying in the stream just above the Commercial wharf at the foot of H street. The warship had orders from the navy department at Washington to sail for Port Harford, where she was to meet the monitor Wyoming and convey the vessel to the Mare Island yard. Steam was up and everything was in readiness for sailing when suddenly, and without warning whatever the starboard forward boiler exploded with a deafening roar.

The explosion was terrific. People standing on the shore saw a cloud of white steam rise above the Bennington. Columns of water were hurled into the air and for a distance of nearly twice the height of the spars of the vessel.

It was immediately apparent that an awful disaster had happened on board the warship. The ferryboat Ramona was coming across the bay at the time of the accident. Capt. Bortelson, of the Ramona, immediately gave orders to change the course of the boat, and instead of continuing his trip to San Diego, side of the bay, hurried to the side of the straining warship.

Hurried to the Rescue.

The tug Santa Fe, which was tied up at the Commercial wharf, the launch of the Bennington, and a large number of other launches and water craft which were near the scene at the time, also rushed to the assistance of the Bennington and endeavored to give what assistance possible. By the time the Ramona had arrived many sailors of the Bennington had jumped overboard the bay to escape the scalding steam, had been rescued, and the removal of the wounded, which already had been commenced, was hastened and conducted in perfect order. The crews of the Santa Fe, De Russay and McKinley and the other boats present lent yeoman aid in picking up the wounded sailors and transferring them to the shore.

Commander Young Was Ashore.

At the time of the accident Commander Young and Surgeon F. M. Peck were on shore. The two officers, as soon as they learned of the disaster, hurried to the water front, where Commander Young took charge.

On board the Bennington were presented terrible scenes. The force of the explosion had torn a great hole in the starboard side of the ship and the vessel was already commencing to list.

A section of the upper deck was carried away from stern to stern. Blood and wreckage was distributed over the entire ship, after cabin and the vicinity of the ship adjacent to the exploded boiler resembling a charnel house.

Over it all hung a great cloud of white smoke which drifted slowly toward the Coronado shore.

The scene of hurrying ambulances, hacks, carriages of every description which had been summoned, added to the confusion. Every physician who could be reached by telephone was called to the water front. Within a comparatively short time nearly a dozen were on the scene and attending the wounded.

A dozen or fifteen men were blown overboard by the force of the terrific explosion. Capt. Westcott, who was looking at the Bennington when the disaster occurred, says:

He saw human bodies hurled over a hundred feet upward.

The air was black with smoke which enveloped the ship. When it cleared away only a few men could be seen on the decks, while a number were foundering in the water. A boat was lowered from the vessel's side and most of them were picked up and taken on board.

Mutilated Beyond Recognition.

The bodies of many of the men from the wrecked interior of the ship were mutilated almost beyond recognition.

Commander Young, as soon as he reached the ship, gave orders that the air tight compartments be closed to prevent the listing ship sinking and that the magazines be flooded to avert further explosions. Temporary quarters ashore were arranged for the wounded.

Many citizens volunteered and hurried to launches to the relief of those on the ill-fated ship. Some of the volunteers were unable to stand the sickening sight which met their gaze.

As the wounded were removed they were hurried in ambulances, carriages, wagons and automobiles to the hospitals.

Was Inspecting the Boiler.

When the explosion occurred, Engineer Nelson was inspecting the boiler as a preliminary to the vessel's leaving port. He was not seriously injured. Officers and men who were able to assist in rescue acted in a brave and collected manner. Pumps were manned to keep the water from the upper compartments, the magazine flooded, and men fought their way through the steam into the darkened hold to search for the young officers, and men stuck manfully to their posts.

The ship's inner works are a tangled mass of machinery and she probably will have to be dismantled in order to examine her injuries.

Washington, July 21.—Not since the ill-fated battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor has the navy department been obliged to record a disaster to one of the American men-of-war so fearful as that of Friday.

Engineers officers do not recall when a boiler has exploded aboard a warship of the United States. Mishaps have occurred in the boiler room, but with slight loss of life or injury, but they were unprepared to hear of an explosion of such magnitude.

It was learned at the headquarters of the marine corps that no marines were aboard the Bennington. Gen. Elliott, commander of the corps, hurried over to the navy department upon learning of the explosion and eagerly sought the details.

ON THE WAY TO PANAMA.

Will Take Ten to Twenty Years to Construct Sea-Level Canal and Five or Six a Lock Canal.

New York, July 25.—Chairman Theo. P. Shonts of the Panama canal commission, with John F. Stevens, the new engineer-in-chief, are sailing for the isthmus on the steamer Merced.

It is Mr. Shonts' first trip to the isthmus.

"First," he said, "we must look over health conditions, sanitation and contentment of the men. Mr. Stevens and I talked over the plans in a general way with the president. The kind of a canal to be built is to be decided upon. I should say it would take ten or twenty years to construct a sea-level and five or six years a lock canal."

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

L. & N. WILL GROW CATALPA.

Company Has Planted 200,000 Trees on a Tract in Alabama.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has just completed the work of planting 200,000 catalpa trees on a tract of 1,000 acres of land recently purchased near Carney, Ala., and will undertake to grow timber for cross ties.

For several years railroads have realized that the time is coming when timber fit for cross ties will be very scarce, and many companies are planting timber for this purpose. Most of the roads have selected catalpa on account of it being a quick growth and being a long lasting timber. It is said that catalpa is one of the best timbers to last, and in many cases has been known to endure all kinds of weather for thirty years. Catalpa is planted in rows about four feet apart, and it is claimed that in Alabama it will make a tree large enough to make four ties every eight years, or one tie to every four feet every two years. At any rate it is believed that 5,000 acres of catalpa will grow enough timber to supply a system like the L. & N.

In the Arkansas Valley, in Kansas, the Santa Fe and the Rock Island systems have planted thousands of acres of catalpa, and much of it is already large enough for railroad ties. Those who have tested the growth of the timber in Southern Alabama say that it will grow faster in that State than in Kansas, and the Louisville & Nashville expects to have a splendid field of timber within eight years. The demand for pine timber for building purposes is fast cleaning out all the pine that is good for ties, and railroads expect to have to use iron within another decade. Iron ties, however, are not expected to be a great success, for rust will eat around the joints and fastenings in a few years, allowing the rails to get loose. The tie will then have to be taken out and a new one supplied.

Samuel Foreman, an electrician of Paducah, has been granted a patent on a railroad train signal, which, he claims, eliminates the probability of accidents from human hands by the automatic action of electricity attached to each engine. Foreman has been working on the signal for four years.

Two washouts nearly caused another disastrous wreck on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, near Upton, Ind., on the St. Louis division, last Friday morning. A cloudburst had washed away the earth from under the tracks a few minutes before the arrival of passenger train No. 33. The train was plowing through a foot of water, when the tracks gave away and sunk the engine in a mire and it was with some difficulty that the train was gotten out. A flagman who was put out to warn approaching trains discovered a large pit caused by the washout in time to prevent the southbound train from going into it.

J. I. Martin, a Henderson division brakeman, was instantly killed at Crofton last Thursday night by the Chicago and New Orleans limited No. 93. After reaching Crofton Martin had thrown the side track switch for the purpose of his train taking the siding so No. 93 could pass, and set down the end of a cross tie to wait until the fast train came in sight. He fell asleep and was struck and his body hurled fifty feet. Martin fell here with Conductor Marvin Padgett as head brakeman on first section of 57 and it is said that he fell asleep at New Empire about half an hour before the fatal accident happened, but one of the train crew awoke him just in time to save him from being killed by a passing train. Martin was 25 years old and unmarried. His home was at Nashville, Tenn., to which place his remains were shipped Friday and interred there on the following day.

Hostler Pete Herb, who was off duty several days last week on account of illness, has resumed work again.

Conductor Jno. Longstaff and Brakeman W. L. Kline, of Guthrie, were in the city Sunday visiting friends and relatives.

Conductor Arch Longstaff has been transferred to one of the work trains on the south end and will move his family to Cedar Hill, Tenn., where he will reside while on this run.

Conductor Leahy is on trains 51 and 52 during the absence of Conductor Corbett, who is off on account of the death of his mother.

Conductor Willie Boyd is on Mr. Leahy's run for the present.

Conductor Boyd is all smiles. His girl and she weighed eight pounds. Mother and baby both getting along nicely.

Brakeman Pittman, who has been working at Bakers Hill for the past two months, was here Tuesday visiting friends.

Conductor Arch Longstaff, of Cedar Hill, Tenn., spent Tuesday day with his family in this city.

Chief of Detectives Jesse T. Peck, of Evansville, Ind., has received information from Henderson, Ky., that Fred Gobin, a railroad conductor, is missing from his home in that city, and his relatives fear foul play. Gobin is thirty-four years old and told some of his friends that he was going to Evansville.

Around the Farm

Beautify Your Farm.

It pays to take care of your farm and beautify it in every way possible, hence to beautify and build up the soil of the lands of Pendleton county should be the slogan of our farmers. It is a noticeable fact that land sale in this county, that those farms which have been kept up to a high state of fertility have sold at an increased price over their valuation of a few years ago, while deteriorating lands have depreciated in value. Plant alfalfa and other advantageous crops and improve your land. Our neighbor, the Bracken County Review very correctly says:

What a wonderful difference a little bit of labor will make in the appearance of a farm. A few days filling up washes, sowing grass seed, cutting out fence rows and hollows, adding much to the appearance of a farm, and pays better wages than anything a man can do. Then he is the proudest man of his home you will run across. His land becomes more valuable not only in his estimation, but in the estimation of home seekers, and if it is for sale there is no trouble to find a buyer. This same question applies to the farmer who does not care for his farm, for there isn't anything that gives a section of country away as much as a lot of thorn bushes and red brush growing along the side of the road; and it is the duty each farmer owes himself as well as his country, to keep his road clean and inviting. Don't think you are working for the county when you do this kind of work, for you are not. The pleasure and credit you and your family derive from it more than pays you, besides enhancing the value of your property. White-wash and paint are other requisites, and count greatly in beautifying and improving property. They should be added at a very little expense.

Sweet Potato King.

H. F. Watson, the sweet potato king of Oklahoma, last year raised 5,000 bushels of sweet potatoes, and this year he will plant 50 acres to grow. Mustang township is the greatest sweet potato raising region of Oklahoma, and the acreage will be much larger this season than in any previous year.

His Farm Work.

A professor of the New York Law school was telling his students one day of the need that lawyers occasionally have for a little knowledge of agriculture. "I was reminded of this need once," he declared, "when a young attorney of this city told me about his plan for spending two or three days in the country next summer. 'I want to go to a farm,' the young attorneys said, 'and for two or three days do farm hand's work. I want to show hay.'"

Poultry Notes.

Don't permit the sick chickens to run with the healthy ones. In one respect whole grain is best for hot weather; it will not become mouldy and sour.

The disease commonly called cholera is often induced by mouldy meal and spoiled messes carelessly fed on warm days.

Wheat is the best grain for poultry every day in the year, except when fattening for market, when corn should be used.

If the chickens show an inclination to change their resting places it is pretty good evidence that lice infest the old roosts.

Chickens must have a place to scratch, dust themselves and take exercise, and the person who can't provide these conditions should not go into the poultry business.

Some say that a dozen Pekin ducks beat a barrel of Paris green in eradicating grasshoppers and bugs from the garden or truck patch and do not molest the vegetables.

The birds that are intended for exhibition at the fall fairs should be separated from the flock now and fed liberally on wheat and other growing foods to make them feather early.

During the summer geese may be plucked two or three times, and the feathers pull out easily when ripe and dry at the ends. The feathers, and especially the down, always bring good prices.

When through with their spring work the incubators and brooders should be cleaned up and stored in a clean, dry place. The tanks and flaps of an incubator will soon rust out unless this is attended to.

April is the greatest of all months for the raising of poultry. If hens are set after the middle of March the young chicks will come forth in April, and they will grow up with growth with great rapidity. In the South probably the Plymouth Rock strain is best suited for the ordinary farmer. They are usually good layers all winter and they also make good setters and mothers.

Hogs Must Be Looked After.

The farmer should not neglect during the month to spay his sows and mark all his hogs. A spayed sow makes an ideal fattening hog, but open sows range with the lowest class of fatted hogs, making but little and inferior pork or bacon.

Breakfast Bacon.

It is astonishing how much the farmers of the South miss by not making their own breakfast bacon. It is so easily prepared and cured, is so excellent and palatable as a food, and is so reliable for such a long time without becoming delectable, and is, without a doubt, the wonder of the world that every farmer does not make his own breakfast bacon. There are numerous receipts for doing this, and some brands of bacon put up by large slaughter-houses have attained an international reputation. The subjoined method is used by a successful farmer and may be tried without disappointment in the result:

As soon as the animal heat is out of the meat select carcasses of medium weight, and cut strips from each side of the abdominal opening about seven or eight inches wide and as long as the middling. Be careful to select those strips that show an alternation of lean and fat streaks. These are called "chubby strips" and are the same as the thin edges of the middling. Make a kettle of brine by boiling and have it strong enough to float an egg. For every 100 pounds of meat to be cured add 10 pounds of brown sugar to the brine. Put the strips of meat in a barrel and arrange them so that each piece may stand separate. If possible, pour the brine in the barrel so as to cover the meat thoroughly. Let it remain in the brine for three or four weeks, then hang it in a tight house and smoke it with a wood fire for three or four days. After this canvass it should be used. Breakfast bacon may be kept in the spring or fall, as well as in the winter months, but it must be used quickly.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY MAP

AMUSING COMPARISON OF PUBLIC ROADS IN TWO STATES.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—The map of the New York region recently published by the United States Geological Survey covers an interesting area of 245 square miles along the banks of the Ohio River, which crosses the upper half of the quadrangle from east to west and forms the boundary between the States of Indiana and Kentucky.

Newburg, the town from which the sheets takes its name, is a village of a thousand inhabitants situated on the north bank of the Ohio River. It is 12 miles east of Evansville, the metropolis of southern Indiana, with which it is connected by a dummy railroad. On the Kentucky side the largest town is Spottsville, which lies on the west bank of Green River. This river is navigable by the use of locks, to Bowling Green, a distance of about 180 miles.

On both sides of the Ohio the land is fertile. Large crops of wheat and corn are raised except in years when long periods of drought prevail, such as that which afflicted the region in the summer of 1904. Lumbering is still carried on extensively in this part of the country. Many thousands of logs are rafted down the river to Evansville every year and many more are sawed up on the ground.

On the Indiana portion of the sheet nearly all roads run in straight lines due east and west or due north and south. This is because the highways, with few exceptions, follow the old section lines, as Indiana, in common with all the States not included in the original territory of the thirteen States and not acquired by the annexation of Texas, was surveyed under direction of the Government Land Office and divided and subdivided into townships and sections. On the Kentucky side of the river the roads follow no apparent system, but reach out to all points of the compass. In Kentucky, which was originally part of Virginia, no township survey was made and the only lines of political division were those of counties, precincts, and city corporations. Characteristic of this map is the great number of private roads. In many localities, it would seem as if half the people live on private roads, which are invariably gated and barred at what appear to be the wander-
